

On Campus Programs:

Master of Medical Education:

The program aims at qualifying a cadre of proficient medical educationist to contribute to the advancement of medical education in Egypt and to cope with the era of academic accreditation.

- Program duration:

The program lasts for a minimum of 2 academic years, as specified in the internal bylaws for postgraduate studies in the Faculty of Medicine, Suez Canal University.

- Program structure:

The program consists of 4 courses.

Course1: Curriculum Design and Student Assessment.

Course 2: Program Evaluation.

Course 3: Quality Improvement and Continuous Medical Education.

Course 4: Management and Leadership.

- Program Admission Requirements

The program accepts candidates with Bachelor of medicine and surgery.

Registration for the program opens 2times/year, according to the internal bylaws for postgraduate studies of the Faculty of Medicine, Suez Canal University.

- Regulations for Progression and Program Completion

The regulations for program completion follow the regulations of Master degree of medical education in the Faculty of Medicine, Suez Canal University approved by the Supreme Council of Universities. The program is considered complete with the accomplishment of 4 periodical exams and one final exam; and the defense of a thesis developed and submitted for the purpose of acquiring the degree.

PhD of Medical Education

The program aims at qualifying a cadre of proficient medical educationist to contribute to the advancement of medical education in Egypt and to cope with the era of academic accreditation.

- Program duration:

The program lasts for a minimum of 4 academic years, as specified in the internal bylaws for postgraduate studies in the Faculty of Medicine, Suez Canal University.

- Program structure:

The program consists of 3 parts.

- The first part comprises a course in Research Methodology planned and held in the Community Medicine Department of the Faculty of Medicine, Suez Canal University. This part lasts for 6 months, ending by a written and a practical exam.
- The second part comprises the specialized courses in medical education, planned and held in the Medical Education Department. This part lasts for 2 years ending by written and practical exams.
- The third part comprises the thesis. The thesis should be registered at least one and a half years from the date of registration for the degree and should be defended at least 2 years from the date of its registration.
- Candidates should pass with scores of at least 60% in every part.